

Turn On

The Hampton City Channel

View HCC-47 for programs about your community. Here are a few to check out:

Hampton Mayor's Committee Annual Awards Luncheon

This annual awards ceremony recognizes businesses, agencies, employers, and individuals who have made outstanding contributions to help individuals with disabilities.

Mayor's Book Club at Bassette Elementary School

In this program, Mayor Molly Ward reads the book of the month for November, If You Give a Mouse a Cookie, to students at Bassette Elementary.

Each child received a copy of the book and enjoyed milk and cookies with the mayor. The Book Club supports Hampton's goal of ensuring all children have a healthy start in life and enter school ready to learn and succeed.

400th Anniversary of Christmas at Kecoughtan

The first written report of an English Christmas in North America took place right here in Hampton in December of 1608 at the Kecoughtan village. The city observed the 400th anniversary of this historic event at the Hampton History Museum with a ceremonial lighting of a giant star, Old English caroling, and historical reenactments.

2008 Army Community Covenant Signing Ceremony

The City of Hampton and Fort Monroe recently signed an Army Community Covenant, which encourages the development and continued support of partnerships between the City and Fort Monroe to improve the quality of life for soldiers and their families.

The covenant also recognizes both the commitment soldiers and their families make each day and the role the community plays in supporting Army personnel.

We want to know what YOU think about HCC-47!

Visit hampton.gov/channel47 and take our Viewer's Survey.

Call "311" (727-8311 from a cell phone or outside Hampton) for program air times and dates or visit www.hampton.gov/channel47.